GRAND JURY AFTER FRAUDS

The Territorial grand jury met this afternoon after several days' adjournment, and had about fifty witnesses on hand to tell what they know, if anything, about election day wrong doings. Since Ashford made his statement in Judge Gear's court there have been many reports about various kinds of frauds at the polls, but most of them when run down end in nothing.

"Shanks" Mossman is said to be the originator of the case in connection with which Ashford made his remarks, since withdrawn, regarding the attorney general.

The Naval Tablet That Came Too Late

BRONZE MEMORIAL THAT WILL NOT COMMEMORATE THE GLORY OF HONOLULU AS A COALING STATION—FATHER TIME IS WRAPPING A SHROUD OF DUST ABOUT THE MASSIVE ORNAMENT.

There is a bronze tablet at the Naval Station that at present is decorating the store room. The tablet arrived on the last transport, from the Boston Navy Yard. The probabilities are that numerous transports will come and numerous transports will go, before the tablet is resurrected. The tablet is a sort of bronze white elephant.

The tablet has the following inscription: "Erected 1898-1901, John D. Long, Secretary of the Navy; R. B. Bradford, Read Admiral, U. S. Navy, Chief of Bureau of Equipment; John F. Merry, Captain, U. S. Navy, Inspector." It is 30 inches in height and about 24 inches in width. It weighs about 350 pounds. Accompanying the tablet were a number of bronze screws for the purpose of holding the tablet in whatever place it might be put. In as much as the tablet is resting peacefully on the floor of the store house at the Naval Station the bronze screws have not been called into service. The advent of the tablet is a striking illustration of the old saying that "procrastination is the thief of time." The tablet arrived several months too late.

The idea in sending out the tablet was that it might be placed where it would ornament the local coaling station of the United States Navy. But there happens to be no coaling station at Honolulu so there is in consequence no use for the tablet. About three years ago there was a coaling station but subsequently Honolulu was promoted on the lists of the naval ports of the United States and, from being an ordinary coaling station, was made a Naval Station. This distinction has caused Honolulu to go up higher in the world, so the tablet would scarcely be apropos under these circumstances. To place the tablet on view at the local Naval Station would be very much like wearing a straw hat with a chinilla ulster.

The tablet is no doubt, a very elegant ornament, but it is not worthy the distinction of a naval station. It was intended to commemorate the erection of a coaling station, but not a naval station. The tablet might of course, commemorate the fact that Rear Admiral Bradford had been in charge of the Bureau of Equipment at the time that the coaling station was started in Honolulu, but since the tablet was ordered the Bureau chief appears to have been lost in the naval shuffle. He is no longer chief of the bureau but is a captain and about fifteenth on the list. He is now commanding the battleship Illinois, so when he comes to Honolulu there will be no monument to his service as the chief of the Bureau of Equipment. The monument arrived too late.

In the meanwhile Father Time is putting a shroud of dust over the tablet and people are beginning to forget that Bradford was ever the chief of any bureau at all, or that Honolulu was ever anything less than a full fledged Naval Station.

THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL HOLDS PROBABLY ITS LAST MEETING—A PEACEFUL SESSION, AFTER THE STORMS OF MONDAY'S DISCUSSION—COMMISSIONS EXPECTED TOMORROW.

The Executive Council held another meeting this morning, possibly the last that will be held under the present system. The meeting was as harmonious as a love feast ought to be. The dove of peace cooed softly throughout all the discussions, perhaps because the Aiea and other land transactions were not brought up. If the commissions expected from Washington arrive on the Alameda tomorrow, the deals are all off, until such time as Governor Carter and his associates act upon them one way or the other.

The matter of the inaugural was brought up in the council. On the arrival of his commission Governor Dole will at once become United States District and Circuit Judge. He is expected to take the oath immediately and will probably hold court on Monday next. Carter without taking the oath of office, will necessarily become acting governor by virtue of his position as Secretary of the Territory. He will take the oath of office in public and will deliver an inaugural address which will state some of his guiding policies.

There were no fireworks nor tearful farewells in the council today, though the members knew that they might not be called together again. It is not certain that the commissions will arrive tomorrow, and there is therefore a chance for other meetings. With the land deals which were discussed on Monday left out there appeared to be little for the council to do. The meeting was held behind closed doors according to custom. Its adjournment probably closed a chapter of years of secret discussions of matters of public concern.

KENTUCKY BILL'S FALSE TEETH

THE MAN WHO KILLED WATSON AND WHOSE LIFE SENTENCE WAS COMMUTED TO TWENTY YEARS BY THE GOVERNOR IS TO HAVE A NEW SET OF MOLARS MADE.

"Kentucky Bill" is to have a new set of teeth—false teeth. "Kentucky Bill" is known on the prison records as George Ferris. He has been in Oahu prison since a year ago last April, and in all that time has never chewed a mouthful of food. He didn't have the teeth to chew it with. Most of the time he has been so nervously and physically depressed with the weight of suspense as to the fate hanging over him, that he hasn't even chewed the rag.

The last time he is known to have chewed the rag was just before he stabbed and killed Watson over in Kakaako. He chewed the rag with Watson, and then stabbed him. He was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. Governor Dole commuted the sentence to twenty year's imprisonment.

"Kentucky Bill" has no molars at all in his upper jaw, and scarcely any in his lower. He has lost them one at a time through disease, and accident. But of course without teeth he is unable to masticate food. So long as he was under sentence of death, the prison authorities thought it didn't make much difference whether he had teeth or not. But now that he is serving a sentence of twenty years, the prison regulations require that he be employed at manual labor. But a man can't work very hard in a stone quarry if he has no teeth to masticate his food, and has either to bolt it or live on spoon victuals. So Ferris is to have a set of false teeth.

Dr. E. L. Hutchinson, who is the dentist employed to look after the teeth of the inmates of the prison, made an impression last Sunday on his regular visit to the institution, and this week a set of artificial molars are being made for Ferris. They may be done by next Sunday, and if they are, Dr. Hutchinson will take them over to the jail and Ferris will try them on. It is expected that when he gets used to them, they will so greatly improve his mastication as to speedily build up his strength, and enable him soon to take his place in the regular working gangs of prisoners.

ARMY SUPPLIES FOR THE N. G. H.

SEVERAL TONS OF TENTS, SHELTER TENTS, BLANKETS, RAIN COATS, AND OTHER REGULAR ARMY SUPPLIES HAVE BEEN RECEIVED BY COL. JONES FOR THE NATIONAL GUARD OF HAWAII.

Captain Douglas of Camp McKinley has received a cable from the War Department to the effect that the money to pay the salaries and other expenses of the last encampment of the Hawaiian National Guard has been sent from Washington and should be here on the Alameda tomorrow. An order has therefore been issued by Col. Jones to assemble the men at the drill shed tomorrow, to receive their pay. The privates get about $2 each for their five days in camp. Next time, with the aid of the Hawaiian legislature, they are to get $2 a day.

The first regiment has received a large consignment of United States army supplies, which will make the next encampment a much better one than the last, from a military point of view. Among them are new tents and blankets. There are 120 tents of brown canvas and twenty officers' tents of khaki, all of the latest army pattern. There are also 300 "shelters," as they are called, for quick encampments. They are small tents, which the men carry with them, each man carrying half. The pegs and ropes go with them and in a couple of minutes two men can put together their shelter and have a tent erected for their use. It is proposed at some future day to have the regiment take a trip round the island, and these will be used when such a trip is taken. A hundred and seventy-five United States army blankets and 400 U. S. rain coats are also in the shipment from the department. The new supplies are all being stencilled with the words "First Regiment, N. G. H." and will be stored for use when occasion comes.

Notice has been received of the shipment of a thousand dollars' worth of medical supplies. These include medicines, tables, instruments, etc., for the hospital corps and the army surgeons.

FOUND MANY CASES CRUELTY

HUMANE OFFICER BENOIT VISITED WAIKAPU YESTERDAY AND SAW SEVEN SICK HORSES THAT SHOULD BE KILLED.

Humane Officer Benoit paid a visit to Waikapu yesterday and found a most deplorable state of affairs in this section. No less than seven cases of extreme cruelty to animals were investigated by the officer.

It was an assortment of the halt, the lame and the blind. There were horses so badly foundered they could scarcely move, one with a broken leg still being worked, a third with a swollen leg, and others in various stages of neglect and suffering. All but two of the horses were owned by Chinese and were being worked in rice fields. One of the injured animals was owned by a Japanese storekeeper. In spite of the fact that the horse had a broken leg, the owner was working the animal to haul goods from the depot to the store. Another animal owned by a Japanese had been badly cut on the leg by a Japanese boy.

Benoit scolded the owners quite badly by threatening to arrest and prosecute them for cruelty to animals. Most of the owners consented to having the animals shot. Benoit will probably acquaint High Sheriff Brown with the condition and secure authorization to kill the sick animals. Benoit will probably visit Waikapu this week again and kill the sick horses.

THE HEINZE GHOST. Heinze as the ghost at the Amalgamated copper banquet will not down. It has been a much troubled feast from the beginning.

Hoarseness in a child that is subject to croup, is a sure indication of the approach of the disease. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough has appeared, it will prevent the attack. It always cures and cures quickly.—For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., general agents.

DOLE TALKS TO BAD GIRLS

A VISIT MADE TO THE GIRLS' INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL YESTERDAY.

Governor Dole, Superintendent of Public Instruction Atkinson and Miss Rose Davison, inspector of schools, paid a visit yesterday to the girls' industrial school, in the buildings formerly occupied by the Boys' Reform school. There are four girls in the school now, and several others who are candidates for admission with good chances of being given terms.

Governor Dole expressed himself as much pleased with the condition of the institution, remarking that it looked as clean as a man of war. The four bad girls were introduced to the executive and he made a few appropriate remarks before leaving. Among the inmates of the school is Maggie Place, the girl who said she liked to be bad and who succeeded in making much pilikia for the children family by carrying out her idea.

ROBBERIES ON LILIIHA STREET. Porto Ricans are robbing houses on Liliha street. Several depredations have been committed within the last few days. A Japanese store was robbed a few nights ago and a native woman was robbed of clothing, a guitar and money. From both places 65 cents was secured.
